Look up “Summer Adventure” in the dictionary and you’ll see this Boundary Waters Expedition at the top. This Expedition is for the Eagle who is eager to explore a pristine and remote part of our country; for the Eagle who wants to swim in cool, clear lakes and listen to loons at night; and for the Eagle who wants to experience camaraderie that can only be found through small unit teamwork.

For five nights Eagles will travel by canoe across wild lakes and rivers, portaging all gear and supplies over-land, and setting up camp on the shores of a summer paradise. By day, it’s all about exploring, covering miles on water and land, and having a blast. Working together under the summer sun will earn those invigorating swim breaks. By night, fix your gaze to the starlit skies above and open your ears to the sounds of loons calling across the still waters of tranquil lakes. Breathe deep and unwind with your teammates as you share a warm dinner around the campfire, then prepare to do it again the next day.

Activities:
- Canoeing and portaging
- Swimming
- Bonfires and stargazing
- Hiking
- Fishing
- Barred owl territory challenge
- Primitive camping

Difficulty Rating:
This trip is rated 3.5 out of 5 from leisurely to strenuous.

Cost to participant: $275

Click here to register